Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Vote for President Roosevelt and give nine and a half million men and women a third term on unemployed doles. Vote for Wendell Willkie, throw Mr. Roosevelt out of employment and put nine and a half million, unemployed since Mr. Roosevelt took over, back to work. In this way the democratic ideal of the greatest good to the greatest number can be realized.

Among other things to which President Roosevelt gives lip service are the revered names of Andrew Jackson and Thomas Jefferson. But it was Andrew Jackson who six times asked the United States Congress to submit to the states an amendment limiting the terms of the Chief Executive. Both Jackson and Jefferson, loving their country better than themselves, refused a third.

George Washington, offered a third term, said: "The period for a new election of a citizen to administer the executive government of the United States, being not far distant, and the time actuall arrived when your thoughts must be employed in designating the person who is to be clothed with that important trust, it appears to me proper, especially as it may conduce to a more distinct expression of the public voice, that I should now apprise you of the resolution I have formed, to decline being considered among those, out of whom a choice is to be made."

At a time when the population of this country was between thirteen and perhaps twenty millions, Presidents Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and Andrew Jackson all refused to be considered candidates for a third term. They, even in those days of a small population did not regard themselves as indispensible to the nation's welfare. But President Roosevelt in a population of 131,400,000 people, regards himself as the only man capable of filling the office of President. Is there any character in all history, Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Charlemagne, William the Conqueror, Napoleon, or in our day, Emperor Wilhelm, Adolph Hitler, Mussolini, or Stalin, who was or is subject to a greater delusion of grandeur?

We hear that good saw: "Never swap horses in the middle of the stream," trotted out and now used as an argument to perpetuate Mr. Roosevelt in office. But as, Mary Pickford, pertinently asks: "How do we happen to be in the middle of the stream?" For seven years, the film star points out, we have been splashing around in the middle of the same stream of the world dangers, the mounting deficit, the same old millions on the dole, when long ere this we should have been on dry ground with our feet planted on the firm earth. As a matter of fact the little lady points out, we have not been on a horse at all, but on a donkey who has deliberately balked in the middle of the stream.

Merry Miss Pickford says:

"You remember seven years ago we climbed aboard this donkey because he brayed so loudly and convincingly that we believed he could take us from a shore of depression, severe unemployment and heavy taxation ,safely and speedily across a certain stream called the stream of promises to the opposite shore of prosperity and abundance for all.

"That was seven long years ago and since then that donkey has gotten deeper and deeper into that stream of promises and now we find we just haven't been able to get out from continually being in the middle. On top of that we've been having a heck of time to keep our heads above water.

"What we have gotten out of that ride has been a good soaking. We've been thoroughly immersed and submerged, we've been dunked and almost sunk. We've been floundering. We've been inundated, saturated and liquidated and at the end of seven long years we find ourselves all wet and in plenty of hot water—and that stream of promises just keeps rolling along.

"Well, anyway, here we are in the middle of the stream and our little old donkey is water logged and water bogged and suddenly and fortunately at this moment a big, strong, young, healthy elephant comes boldly cutting through the water. Now if, as he comes up to us, he lifts his trunk, thumbs it toward the solid dry shore and asks, "Want a lift, fellas?" Wouldn't you climb aboard the safe broad back of brother elephant and drag that little old donkey aboard with you, too?"

THIRTY EMPLOYED UNDER NYA IN NEVADA COUNTY

Surveying present and proposed activities of the National Youth Administration in Nevada County, C. T. Brier, area director, said that there are over thirty young men and women employed on a part time basis in Nevada City and Grass Valley. These young men and women are learning, while they are getting actual work experience, many practical points concerning what they want to make their permanent occupantions.

There are two young women assisting the school nurse at the Hennessy grammar school in Grass Valley. These girls will receive training which will enable them to qualify for work in a dentist or dectors office. At the office of the Department of Employment there are six young women who are getting excellent supervision in clerical work, receiving people and filing. The excellent placement record of youth employees into private employment from this project is exceptional, Brier says. There have been two clerical assignments that have learned the practical use of typing and shorthand at the Nevada County Fair Commission.

Learn Carpentry

During the summer, ten young men learned carpentry and woodwork at the high school, where they repaired the floor at the gymnasium and did other construction work around the building. At the county court house there are two workers assisting in the county welfare department, and one in the county recorder's office. Two young women assist in the county superintendent of school's office. where dictation and recording, together with regular clerical work, is offered.

The United States Division of Forestry now has six young men and women who serve in clerical capacities ranging from drafting to typing and shorthand. Brier further announced that the area offices have been moved from the old city hall in Marysville to Room 6 in the Peri Building in Marysville. King Hammill, recent graduate of Occidental College, has joined the staff and is in charge of youth personnel work.

Anyone interested in placement on the program is urged to apply at the Department of Employment office in Grass Valley, where an appointment will be made for an interview.

THURMAN HEADS FISH AND GAME INVESTIGATION

Sportsmen who pay millions of dollars in license fees to the state will soon know more about how their money is being spent as a result of action taken by the state legislature which met in special session last Saturday and Sunday.

A resolution creating a committee to investigate the expenditure of fish and game funds was passed by the state assembly. Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman, of this district, author of the resolution will head the committee.

While the alleged recent junketing trip of members of the fish and game commission and members of the department of natural resources to Mexican waters in a state fish and game patrol boat, will be included in the investigation, several other important matters pertaining to the expenditures of the sportsmen's money are also to be investigated.

ENGINEER VIEWS CRIPPLE CREEK DRAINAGE BORE

Clayton Bennett, superintendent of the Sixteen-to-One mine at Alleghany, has returned from the convention of the American Mining Congress at Colorado Springs. While there he was among the delegates who were permitted to inspect the operation of boring the great tunnel to drain the Cripple Creek mines. This tunnel makes an average of 60 feet a day. A jumbo drilling machine with five drills, boring holes nine feet deep, is employed and machanical muckers are also employed. The holes are so placed that with each blast nine feet of rock is broken clean. The mine cars used hold three tons each. Three shifts of miners are employed and thus far the tunnel has traversed little but granite, making little timbering necessary.

Mr. Bennett states that drainage tunnel will undoubtedly give the Cripple Creek mines a new lease of life, since it will drain those now above the tunnel level by gravity, and when the workings extend below the tunnel level, the water can be pumped up to it.

Big News! Sheriff Is Father of 7-Pound Son

Yes, it's true!

Sheriff and Mrs. Carl J. Tobiassen became the proud parents of a son at the Nevada City Sanitarium Tuesday night.

The infant weighed in excess of seven pounds at birth. It was the sixth child for Sheriff and Mrs. Tobiassen, and, incidentally, the smallest child ever born to the couple.

Needless to say, the sheriff is plenty happy as are the four brothers and one sister of the new arrival.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD BIG MEET AT DONNER LAKE

Arrangements have been completed for a gathering of scouts from the Golden Empire Council operating out of Sacramento, the Mt. Lassen Council with headquarters in Chico, the Nevada Council with offices in Reno and the Tahoe Area Council to be held on September 28-29 on the shores of historic Donner Lake.

The plan is similar to the camporal type of demonstration of patrol camping technique in a small area but the method of conducting the program will be different. For this reason the name of Donner Lake pilgrimage has been given to the affair and it is being patterned after the pilgrimages of large scout groups to historic shrines in the eastern part of the country.

Leaders of the affair will be the executives from the councils names and ni the Tahoe area council a host commiteee has been appointed composed of Scout Commissioner Warren T. Eich of Roseville, Dr. L. W. Empey, of Roseville, Walter V. Williams of Auburn and Cecil Klee of Nevada City. These men will act on the grounds for the incoming scouts.

Use of the grounds on the lake shore has been secured from the operators of the Donner Lake company and the scouts will be to themselves from time that the check in on Saturday afternoon until the conclusion of services at the Donner monument on Sunday noon.

On Saturday afternoon patrols will select camp sites and set up their tents and camping equipment. Wood will need to be gathered from the forest and all conveniences made by hand. Water is the only utility furnished. On Saturday evening after a hearty dinner cooked over coals and sweet wood the several hundred scouts will gather to hear a relation of the story of the Donner Party from some of the people best acquainted with the details. Wendell Robie of Auburn, widely known for his clear delivery of this exciting tale will be on hand to unfold the tale. The campfire program will be made of spontaneous entertainment that comes from all scout campfires.

On Sunday a hike along the shore of the lake will bring the group to the Donner monument where the Sunday services will be held. Following these observances scouts will hike back to their camps and start to prepare for departure.

This will be one of the largest gatherings of scouts from the valley area to camp in the Tahoe area in many years and is expected to prove a real attraction to all who are interested in such demonstrations.

Searchers Find Lost S. F. Girl

Daughter of Civil Engineer Missing In Wilds For Two Days

Mercedes Treverton, 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O. Treverton, 540 Elizabeth Street, San Francisco, lost for two days in a remote region of the Tahoe National Forest near Soda Springs, was found last night by Ranger Charles Beardsley, one of a party of searchers.

The condition of the girl, who was deer hunting with her father when she became lost, was reported to be good, except for badly swollen feet. At one time during her 2 days of wandering, seeking to reach civilization, she fell in Wabnea Creek. The girl had no gun to protect herself or matches with which to make a fire.

Taken To Cedars

She was taken to The Cedars and put to bed by Mrs. Jess Thompson, wife of the caretaker of the lodge. During the nights she spent out in the open she slept until the moon came up and then she started walking again. She was on the French Meadows-Soda Surings road when located by Ranger Beardsley.

The forest service searchers built huge bonfires last night in an attempt to attract her attention but she failed to see them. Beardsley drove his car down the road to contact other forest service men regarding the search and found the gril standing in the middle of the road waiting for him. She said she heard his car approaching.

The search for the girl was led by Ranger Beardsley and Assistant Supervisor Ernest Baxter of the forest service headquarters here.

The girl's father is a civil engineer in San Francisco.

Does America Want War?

The dedicated nominee of the New Deal for Vice President, Henry A. Wallace, in his acceptance address referred to the Republican Party as the "Party of Appeasement."

By this statement he officially let the cat out of the bag that the NEW DEAL PARTY IS THE "WAR PARTY."

This has long been generally understood by all those able to view the progress of international events with any degree of realism.

Methods "short of war" have recently given way to undertakings and treaties with foreign powers, not submitted to the Congress for ratification, that many international legal experts construe as actual acts of war.

The Wallace acceptance speech made clear the whole strategem of the New Deal campaign to continue Roosevelt in office for a Third Term.

This strategem is to DIVERT the attention of the American people away from vital domestic issues, including so grave an issue as the Third Term itself, by continually harping upon the menace of Hitler, by creating new emergencies from day to day and by the ridiculous assumption that only the New Deal Dictator is capable of building a strong defense.

Except among those so blind they will not see THE END OF THIS ROAD IS IN PLAIN VIEW and the END IS WAR.

Should the New Deal triumph at the November election it will deliver into the hands of Mr. Roosevelt dictatorial powers exceeded by no European dictator, neither Hitler, Mussolini nor Stalin.

The way will then be open for immediate participation in the European war regardless of the outcome of the Battle of Britain.

There are many astute observers of the political scene who do not hesitate to predict that should Mr. Roosevelt realize the tide of the presidential campaign is definitely against him—as it unquestionably now is, a new and "bigger crisis" will be precipitated on the eve of the November election by which the New Deal will make a last desperate stand against defeat.

There are many who feel this greater crisis might even provoke an actual declaration of war upon us by a foreign power, or an emergency message to Congress might cause the United States to declare war.

If opposition to such a course be "appeasement" there can be no doubt the American people will rally in even greater numbers to the Republican Party and to the Republican nominee, once they are awakened to the true situation.

They are by the way, curious as to what secret pacts or understandings this government may have with Great Britain in regard to the Far East and which, like the agreement recently concluded for Naval Bases in the Carribean, may have been concluded without consultation with, or approval by, the United States Senate, as provided by the Constitution.

The President's refusal to enter into debate with Wendell Willkie on any phase of domestic or foreign policy, his continuing tours of alleged inspection of American defenses, his "non political" speeches made during his frequent absenses from the White House, all these are part and parcel of what the New Deal regards as an adroit and clever way of confusing the American people as to the issues of the campaign and thus perpetuating itself in power.

Unless the American people want war they will not be misled by these strategems but will continue in the way of peace, through complete and efficient preparedness, devoid of politics, with Wendell Willkie.—Contributed.

PRICE OF FARM COMMODITIES TO RISE, FORECAST

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

The months just ahead, due to the government's tremendous defense program—and the impact of that program on every branch of productive activity—will be of vital consequence to California agriculture.

What the ultimate effect will be on the farming industry, no one can predict. But the immediate effect, in all probability, will be to strengthen markets and boost prices.

Dependent on how fast the defense program gathers speed, industry is slated to take on between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 more workers by next July, according to Washington economists.

And the conscription and National Guard mobilization programs are scheduled to take more than 1,000,000 additional men out of the labor market during this period.

Reports from the government experts also indicate that if prices remain unchanged, the national income, which totaled $71,700,000,000 during the last fiscal year, should reach $78,000,000,000 during the fiscal year which ends next June 30. And if prices go up, the figures may shoot considerably above $80,000,000,000.

Incidentally, the Washington economists admit that a rise of 5 per cent in the cost of goods by next June is almost inevitable. And if business men, fearing industrial bottlenecks which might delay deliveries, start laying in huge supplies of things they expect to need in the future, a 15 per cent increase in the prices, or more, would doubtless result.

Many unknown factors can, of course, affect what will happen during the next twelve month. But even the capitulation of Briatin, it is believed by federal officials, would not prevent a big spurt in American industry—and in the demand for produce and goods. This statement is based on the assumption that any business the United States might lose by the surrender of Britain, and cancellation of her orders for American planes and armaments, would be more than offset by increases in the demands of this nation's defense production schedule.

The budget bureau in Washington estimates that defense expenditures, during the fiscal year, in addition to normal costs of the armed forces, will total $5,00,000,000. And if defense costs soar to that figure, total federal expenditures for the year are expected to hit $12,000,000,000.

A restraining influence on the "defense boom," however, it is generally admitted, will be the rise in taxes. When people spend more for taxes, they must, inevitably, spend less on things bought for their families.In this fiscal year alone more than $700,000,000 was added to the federal tax bill and another addition of at least $200,000,000is slated in the proposed excess profits tax.

Washington reports also mention the threat of a possible car shortage (somewhat reminiscent of World War days), stating that unless more are built, freight cars are expected to fall 100,000 short of requirements by next fall.

The Association of American Railroads disputes that contention, however, stating:

"American railroads are ready, right now, to do their part, and more, in any national emergency. That's because railroad preparedness, the modernization of plant and methods, began 20 years ago. American railroads are at the highest peak in their history in speed and operating efficiency. As compared with 1920, the average freight car has 17 per cent more capacity; the average locomotive has 44 per cent more pulling power, and the average freight train travels 64 per cent faster."

Farmers, preparing for the swift changes that are inevitable, will do well to remember the lessons of the World War. There may be immediate profits to be made from a "defeuse boom," but farmers will do well to keep their heads and not rush into expansion programs unjustified by normal conditions.

WILLKIE WINS CALIFORNIA!

BURIAL TODAY FOR GRASS VALLEY MINER

Following funeral services this morning under the direction of the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary in Grass Valle, August Verlod, 72, Grass Valley district miner and farmer, was interred in the Grass Valley Catholic Cemetery.

Verlod, a native of Switzerland, had resided in Grass Valley for 47 years.

He leaves three children, Mrs. Sylvia Benson and Alfred and Frank Verlod, all of Grass Valley and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Rondoni of Placerville and Mrs. Marie Geronimi of Grass Valley.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if you long to serve
Your own beloved land
And on a bridge, Horatius like,
Take a determined stand.
Each one of us may hold a bridge,
Or guard a little gate,
And they may also serve, 'tis said,
"Who only stand and wait."

I wonder if any of us are so unimportant that we cannot lend some measure of aid to the upbuilding of national defense. There may be no heroic tasks for us to perform, but surely there is something which every individual may contribute to the gigantic enterprise which has for its end the guarding of our beloved land from foes without and enemies within.

What is most needed in America today is co-operation—that unity of purpose which comforts the nation's heart and wins success for high emprise.

Unfortunately the exigencies of a presidential campaign are upon us. It is a great show, but a rather tawdry one. The chorus is "terrific"—there is however, no concord of sweet sounds, no harmonious blending of competing voices; still, all this will soon be over. When the sublime spectacle of brotherly animosity is over we shall settle down under our duly elected leader, slip the gears of national affairs into high and give heed to the command: "full speed ahead."

I wonder how you and I will fit into the scheme of preparedness. How may we serve? Perhaps you are an important person, capable of keeping a strategic bridge, guarding a threatened gate or carrying a message to Garcia; but not one of those things could I do—truly I couldn't. What is there for little folk to do?

I know! Every one of us can and should guard the portals of his mind from that insidious fifth columnist, Intolerance. Let those of us who are elected to stand and wait, at least stand on guard. If we can submerge our racial, religious— and after the election, even our political prejudices and pet aversions—if we can induce those about us to do the same, we shall have strengthened that spirit of co-operation so necessary to the success of national plans of defense.

I wonder if there is any way to save an old covered bridge. Probably not. We are quite helpless when a cherished landmark stands in the path of progress.

There is an old covered bridge spanning the Yuba River at Bridgeport, Nevada County, which has served the traveling public faithfully for many long, eventful years. This ancient structure built in the early sixties is now doomed to destruction and its passing deserves more than a resigned sigh of regret. It should be given a suitable farewell and I hope the Native Sons and Daughters will conspire to that end.

Children of the pioneers, come up from the valleys and down from the hills as your fathers did of old, stage a last parade through the old covered bridge which they built so sturdily and well, sing a parting song and cry "bon voyage" before the ancient structure fades into the Never-Never land to which treasured landmarks are consigned when their days of usefulness here are at a end.

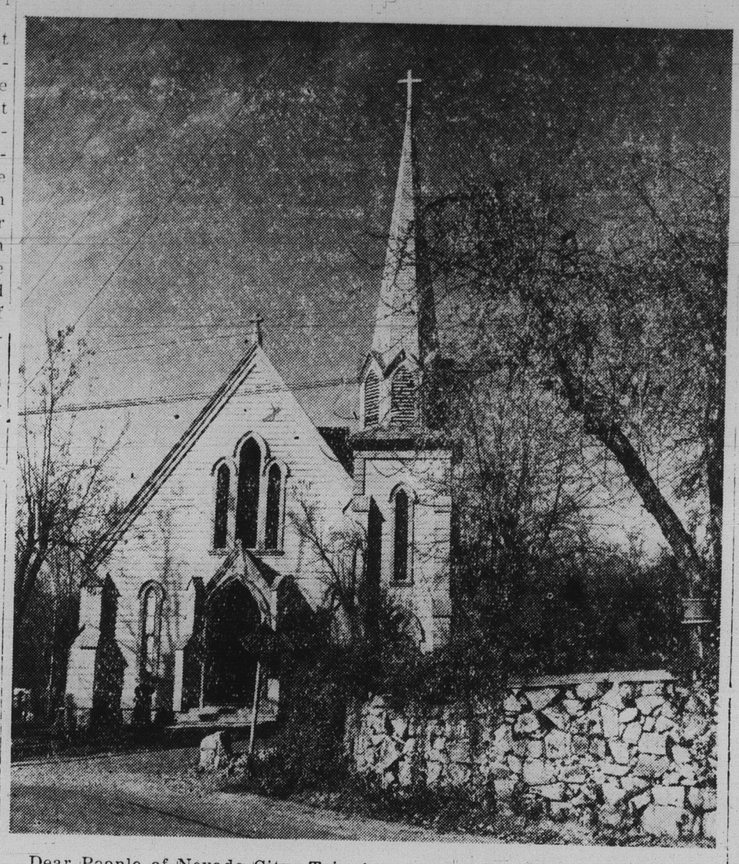
BISHOP PORTER WRITES OF HISTORIC TRINITY



Dear People of Nevada City: Trinity Church, Nevada City, has a charm all its own. It rests among the foothills of the mountain area of Northern California. It is in a historic city of California. The building itself rests upon the first site of the townsite.

In 1854, Bishop Kip held the first service. It was held during an April shower upon the twenty first of that month with a congregation of fifty attending.

Since that first visit many things have happened. The first Church was built in a short time; it was destroyed by fire in the sixties and the present Church was built in 1873. Among those clergy who ministered there are listed: William H. Hill, E. D. Cooper, and H. Smeathham; these served in the fifties. In the sixties, the parish was served by D. Ellis Wiles, rector, and by Mr. Chapin of Grass Valley. In the seventies, the parish had the ministry of A. P. Anderson, rector, and G. D. Davis, rector. W. C. Powell was the rector from 1878 to 1884. A. B. Spaight and W. H. Wilcox followed. W. M. Reilly served in the nineties. Mr. Rimer came at the turn of the century. Since that time the parish has been served by a number of other men including J. A. Baynton and T. T. Denhardt. M. Denhardt saw the building of the present rectory.

To Trinity Church proud parents have brought their first born and dedicated them to God, with many a hope to the Christ who was born at Bethlehem. Here the children have heard the Old, Old Story, and here they have sung Christmas and Easter Carols. Here the youth and maid have walked to the Altar to ask God's blessing upon their love; and from this sanctuary in the aftertime their bodies have been borne to the cities of the silent.

What a wealth of memories we find in this historic old building! It ought to make us realize what a great debt we owe to the past for all our spiritual privileges, and prompt us to do better in the days that lie ahead.

Only those who have made regular pilgrimages to this historic spot can know what it means to the people of the gold country. In the sky, above its rugged old cross and steeple, God's handwriting appears to all the faithful followers of Christ who worship His Father in Heaven. About it are its magnificent trees and capacious lawn where the children find to their delight a happy place to frolic day in and day out. Across the street one of God's mountain streams journeys to the sea. One can look in any direction and see the hills and say: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my strength. My help cometh even from the Lord, who hath made heaven and earth."

Trinity Church merits your wholehearted support. It's a signpost of history in the making. It is symbol of the souls of men reaching toward God. Those of you who attend it and similar houses of worship know the meaning of giving and receiving. Give yourselves, give of your means, and it shall be given back to you in religious stability of home, and in a worthier community.

God bless you people in Nevada City and the gold country about it under the fine spiritual leadership of your rector for the upbuilding of the Master's Kingdom.

Your friend and Bishop,
NOEL PORTER.

The Stars are out—ALL FIVE!

This is the cyclonic CENTURY

Here's the sprightly SPECIAL

...and the sleek-lined SUPER
IT'S probably no news to you, since we simply couldn't keep those strapping big new Buicks off the street.
But it's official now: the bright and glittering stars of the 1941 season are out—so at any Buick showroom you can see the best automobiles Buick ever built.
You'll see a massive grille, a trim speed-stream radiator ornament—and behind them not one but five series of cars that are gorgeously new from dreadnaught bumper to direction-signaling taillight.
You'll spot a SPECIAL that not only looks like but definitely is the biggest package the money has ever bought.
You'll size-up a 125-horsepower SUPER that's still the shiningest style-star of the season, for all the efforts to duplicate its beauty.
You'll lay eyes on a CENTURY broader, longer, bigger in every way, with an additional twenty-four horsepower under its thrusting hood—and a ROADMASTER that's its rival in action and the very picture of super-streamlined grace.
You'll see a Buick LIMITED that is close to twenty feet of sheer spacious luxury—top-of-the-line in finish, richness and meticulous appointment.
All this your wonder-wide eyes will tell you, then your ears begin to take things in.
You'll learn here's lower-swung weight—a better, steadier, softer ride.
Here are sensational new micro-poise-balanced engines—FIREBALL Eights that get extra lift and power-wallop from still further progress in Buick's exclusive Dynaflash combustion principle—here's a brand-new Compound Carburetion that combines the lift of an extra engine with economy stepped up a full 10% to 15%!
Here are rugged new frames and new Flash-Way signals. New quiet-easy Concentric Shifting and new Permi-firm steering. New lovely body lines and new inside roominess. New instrument panels, new oil-bath air cleaners, new concealed running boards—even new clocks.
Yes, here are new things galore, modern new features by the dozen—but one thing is old, and hasn't changed a bit.
That's the plain rockbottom fact that when you see Buick you've seen the best of the bunch.
Make it the first one you see for '41, and save yourself a lot of fruitless looking around.

REPUBLICANS IN CONGRESS AID DEFENSE

McNary and Martin Blocked Adjournment Effort Before Program Was Complete.

PREVENTED LONG DELAY

Two Leaders Paved Way for Needed Action Providing Arms.

New Deal efforts again to force an adjournment of Congress recall to mind that last June President Roosevelt brought pressure to send the national legislative body home. He declared he could see no good reason why Congress should not adjourn "except for the no doubt laudable purpose of making speeches."

This move was fought and blocked by House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Senate Leader Charles L. McNary, now the Republican nominee for Vice-President. With other Republicans in Congress they believed it was the duty of Congress to be on the job in such critical times.

To the far-sighted statesmanship of these two Republican leaders now can go much of the credit for the legislation setting in motion the long delayed national defense machinery. Had Congress adjourned in June when Mr. Roosevelt wanted to get rid of the legislators, there would have been a further delay of months in getting national defense preparations going and the country would be in a far more difficult situation.

For since that time Congress has enacted most of the legislation authorizing and appropriating money for the war ships, tanks, guns, and airplanes which Mr. Roosevelt now boasts are "on order." In addition Congress enacted the Conscription Act and the bill authorizing the President to mobilize the National Guard. It also passed the Alien Registration law and a bill taxing excess profits and liberalizing certain laws necessary for the expansion of industry.

Martin and McNary remain opposed to the adjournment of Congress because they believe the legislators, under our system of representative, republican government, should stay on the job when there is business to be done. They do not believe in "one man government" here any more than they approve of it in Europe.

For instance, the two Republican leaders contend that Congress should complete passage by the Senate of legislation amending the National Labor Relations Act, already adopted by the House. This, they assert, would be a real contribution to economic recovery at home. The New Dealers, however, want to end the Congressional session in order to carry on their political campaigns. Their attitude is that recovery and national defense can wait until next year—and that is what they have been saying for seven years.

All Promise, No Performance

Including his campaign pledges, President Roosevelt has promised to balance the budget no less than eleven times. During the seven years of his Administration, however, Mr. Roosevelt has never balanced the Federal budget. The average annual deficit for these seven years has been $3,237,400,000.

Confined By Illness—

Ellwood M. Stone, dispatcher for the Tahoe National Forest Service, is at home, ill with a cold.

Mrs. Willkie—Next First Lady

One day, twenty-three years ago, the librarian in Rushville, Indiana, was talking to her young assistant about a tousel-haired young lawyer.

"Marry that young man," advised Miss Mary Sleeth, the librarian. "He's going places."

The girl in the case had already made up her mind to do that. Her name was Miss Edith Wilk. The young lawyer was Wendell L. Willkie.

From the very start Miss Wilk's young man went places vigorously. Even though a blizzard, subzero weather and snow-clogged roads delayed the groom and the wedding, Wendell Willkie got there just the same—frozen bridal bouquet and all. It was January 14, 1918. Shortly afterward Wendell Willkie, already in the Army, left for France.

"Wendell Willkie has never let me down and that's the best recommendation I can give him," she says simply.

After Wendell Willkie had received the Republican nomination, a delegate remarked: "you've got the best man in the field."

"I have not," Mrs. Willkie countered, pleasantly, but firmly. "I have the best man in the world."

What has the great honor accorded her husband meant to this delightful, diminutive (she's only five feet, two, and weighs only about 110 pounds) Indiana woman? Has it frightened her? Inspired her? Probably both.

If her husband wants and hopes to be President, it's pretty breathtaking, of course, but she is equal to the challenge. "I believe it's a woman's job to adjust herself to her husband's way of living and help him do what he wants," is her philosophy of marriage.

MRS. WENDELL WILLKIE

Mrs. Willkie's blue eyes are friendly, her manner warm and sincere. Her reserve has a practical basis—she is safeguarding her husband's interests. So she speaks carefully, choosing her words thoughtfully. She has never made a speech in her life and hopes she won't have to.

Her world revolves around her husband, her son, Philip, now 20 years old, and her home, a cheerful New York City apartment where the family has lived for eleven years. Bookcases fill every available space in the apartment.

McNARY OFFERS SOUND PROGRESSIVE IDEAS

Senator Charles L. McNary, the Republican nominee for Vice President, demonstrated in his Acceptance Speech that he remains a symbol of the pioneering West, believing in progressive but sound ideas of government.

The Oregonian gave the New Deal credit for trying—but, as he pointed out so forcefully, it has failed to achieve its objectives because of a lack of capacity to govern and because of its "political and economic heresies which have deflected us from our course."

Speaking of the farm problem, Senator McNary asserted that "the prosperity of agriculture should be the first charge on the attention of any administration." Those who have followed his career as a battler for the farmer during the last 23 years in the Senate know that Charles McNary speaks with sincerity on that subject.

"The New Deal has administered the farm problem for more than seven years," Senator McNary asserted. "What is the present state of the American farmer, who, with his dependents, makes up a quarter of our population? In the year 1939 his share of the national income was the lowest since statistics have been kept."

Senator McNary strongly advocates preserving the American market for the American farmer, believing it is "far and away the greatest market" and the "only one we can hope to control."

Indirect Taxes

The Northwestern National Life Insurance Company finds that families with a monthly income of $80 pay an average of $116.04 a year in indirect or so-called hidden taxes. This is about 12 per cent of the average income. Who said only the big fellows pay taxes?

GIVE U. S. BACK TO THE PEOPLE, SAYS WILLKIE

OPENING CAMPAIGN SPEECH

Republican Candidate Charges Roosevelt Has Lost Faith In the People

COFFEYVILLE, Kansas. — Wendell Willkie's opening speech of his Presidential campaign, delivered in the Kansas town where he used to teach school, was an impassioned plea for the return of the U. S. government to the people. His principal charge against President Roosevelt was that after seven years, he "has lost faith in the people." He followed this with a ringing challenge: "Sooner or later—and I say the time is NOW—the people will lose faith in him." Passages in his speech which evoked the most enthusiastic applause from his audience included the following:

"Let me make myself clear. I say nothing about the personal motives of Mr. Roosevelt. But in his hands our traditions are not safe. He has lost his grip on our American principles. He gives lip service to them but he does not know how to preserve them. He has put our democratic system in danger of its life.

"The issue we have to decide in this campaign is whether we shall leave in the hands of the President, now seeking a third term, the power to destroy our system.

Goal of Campaign

"That is the substance of the charge I bring. That goal—the preservation of democracy—will be the goal of my campaign. I shall go up and down this land preaching the doctrine of freedom, the doctrine of equality, the doctrine of democracy.

"Let us recognize that democracy is not something that just anybody can have. Democracy is the highest form of government, and the hardest to keep. To have it and to hold it, we must understand and believe and insist upon the homely virtues that we learned when we were boys and girls.

"Only we, the people, can save our country. And we can do so only if we are worthy of our country.

"We are told that those lessons of our childhood are just old-fashioned folkways, which have been superseded by new ways, the ways of the New Deal. But you know and I know that there is no New Deal in morals.

"A man who cannot save democracy in peace cannot save it in crisis. No man can save democracy who has lost his faith in the people.

"And so I turn to that vast mistaken deluded government of ours in Washington, and I say: Give our country back to us."

NEED INSTRUCTIONS

President Roosevelt Should Tell Mayor Hague to Obey Law.

President Roosevelt talks a great deal about keeping bright the fires of democracy. But in Jersey City his henchman, Mayor Frank Hague, Vice Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and ardent third term supporter, thwarts the workings of democracy by refusing to install voting machines as directed by the State Legislature. What does Mr. Roosevelt say about this? Nothing.

SPORTS

The Nevada City High School A football squa will rest tomorrow for the San Juan game at Fair Oaks Saturday after a strenuous week work under the direction of Coach Ed Frantz.

Coach Frantz believes he has corrected many defects of the Yellowjackets shown in the game with Placer High last Friday night and anticipates a good showing against the San Juan squad. The teams played to a 0 to 0 tie last year.

Frantz states all his men are in good physical condition for the game. The comparative strength of the local and San Juan elevens cannot be judged because the Saturday contest will be the opening game for the San Juan squad. The Yellowjackets lost 14 to 7 to the alumni and 13 to 0 to Placer High School.

Coach Frantz said efforts are being made to arrange a game between the San Juan and Yellowjackets B squad but if the plans fall through the local Bees will play the Grass Valley High School B reserves.

It is expected many local supporters of the Yellowjackets will make the trip to Fair Oaks.

The A squad players to see action will be Marvin Haddy, Kirk Martin, ends; Bob Farmer, Ken Worthley, tackles; Harry Roberts, Norman Ronnigen, Craig Davies and Gino Benuzzi, guards; Clifford Masterson and Ben Barry, centers; Bill Muscardini, Allen Spracklen, George Phillips, Flod Ruth and Ronald Joyal, backfield men.

GYPSIES LEAVE

At the suggestion of Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford, a band of gypsies who invaded the North San Juan district eft almost as soon as they arrived. San Juan residents called the sheriff's office here and Deputy Williford saw to it the gypsies did not stay long in the district.

SEASON ENDS FOR CHAMPION VALLEY PLAYERS

The season for the Grass Valley Miners champions of the Sacramento Valley League has definitely ended. There had been some plans started for a post season game with the Oakland Acorns of the Pacific Coast League but after the 14 to 2 drubbing at Modesto last Sunday the management of the Miners decided it would be best for the Miners to hang up their spikes for the year. About six of the regular players failed to appear for the game, indicating they were losing interest in baseball for the season.

Manager Archie Campbell has already started plans for next season's team, which will seek its third straight Valley League championship. Efforts are being made to have Sylvester Gregory one of Grass Valley's outside players this year, who is employed in a Sacramento branch of the Bank of America, transferred to the Grass Valley branch, giving him an inside player status.

STATE RICH IN MINERALS FOR PREPAREDNESS

California's mineral resources, with particular reference to their development as part of the national defense program, are analyzed in a bulletin just compiled by the California State Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the State Division of Mines. The bulletin has been forwarded by the State Chamber Industrial Department to officials in Washington who are concerned with the national defense problem, and is also available to manufacturers and others who are seeking strategic or critical minerals for their manufacturing processes.

According to the bulletin, mineral production in California during 1939 was valued at $352,462,564, of which $247,910,502 was accounted for by petroleum and natural gas fuels and the remaining $104,552,062 was accounted for by metals, structural and industrial materials, and salines. In the latter group, gold, cement, stone, borates, soda, silver, salt, tungsten, and quick silver were the leading products. Sixty two different mineral substances were produced in 1939 and ever county in the state contributed to the total.

Strategic materials reported in the bulletin, available in California, include antimony, chromium, ferro-grade manganese, mercury, mica and tungsten.

Critical materials available in California which are essential to national defense but which are either less important or more easily obtainable than the strategic minerals include graphite, iodine, titanium, and vanadium.

Investigations of domestic deposits of strategic materials and minerals are being made by the U. S. Geological Survey and the U. S. Bureau of Mines, the report states. These investigations are primarily for the purpose of ascertaining whether such deposits are large enough to be of commercial importance, how the ore would have to be treated to yield mineral of a strategic grade, and what the cost would be.

Under supervision of M. E. Volin, engineer for the strategic mineral projects of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, intensive surveys are to be made immediately of manganese deposits in the foothills near Tracy. If these deposits are ound to be sufficiently extensive, the data obtained will be turned over to private interests so that the properties can be developed.

TREAT IN STORE FOR NOR. CALIF. MUSIC LOVERS

Northern California music lovers anticipate one of the most popular programs in the history of the Sacramento Music Series this year, with the coming of the new season for 1940-41.

Tickets for the season and for single events are on sale now at the new box office at Weinstock-Lubin's.

The events and dates for the 1940-41 season are:

San Francisco Opera Association's production of Manon by Massenet, with Bidu Sayao and Tito Schipa, October 26; Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, January 27, 1941; Sergei Rachmaninoff, Russian pianist composer, February 4; Gregor Piatigorsky, celist, in a return engagement, Mar. 15; Dorothy Maynor, Negro soprano, Saturday, March 29.

The role of Manon in Massenet's musical interpretation of the French literary classic will be taken by Didu Sayao Metropolitan Opera soprano who made her San Francisco debut in the role last season.

Mme. Sayao, a Brazilian, will sing her fourth season in America this year. She studied abroad where she worked with the great Jean de Reszke at Nice. Her operatic debut was in her native city, Rio de Janeiro, a triumph soon duplicated at the Theatre Colon, Buenos Aires, the Opera Comique, Paris, the Rome Royal Opera and La Scala, Milan. Toscanini introduced her to New York, choosing the petite prima donna for his soloist in Debussy's Blessed Damozel.

Schipa, the celebrated lyric tenor who was heard here during the Music Series second season will sing the role of Chevalier des Grieux, the young lover of Manon. Schipa made his first American appearance in 1899 in Chicago in Rigoletto. He is a world favorite among tenors and has sung with the Met for many seasons.

After hurdling war, diplomatic and shipping barriers, Leonido Massine and his Ballet Russe finally arrived in New York to begin their seventh American tour. With such favorites as Danilova, Slavenska, Markova, Theilade, Massine and the remainder of the company of 65 dancers, the group will present in America its repertoire of 22 ballets including half a dozen which will be shown in America for the first time.

Rachmaninoff is regarded as one of the foremost musicians that Russia has yet produced. An invitation from the London Philharmonic Society to appear as composer and pianist offered him his first great success outside of Russia. He made his American debut in 1909.

Piatigorsky scored a personal triumph at his first appearance here last year with the Music Series. He began his career as cellist in a movie house, but later, when 15 years old, he was engaged as first cellist b the Imperial Opera in Moscow.

The revolution brought on untold confusion, but Piatigorsky was smuggled across the border, and in Warsaw was invited to play as substitute for a cellist in the opera who had fallen ill. From then on, his fame became established and opportunities for travel opened to him. This will be Piatigorsky's eleventh tour in the United States.

Dorothy Maynor, concluding star for the series, is a relatively new star in the music world. The young Negro soprano was discovered by Serge Koussevitsky, who brought her into the limelight only last season. A native of Norfolk, Va., and the daughter of a minister, she received her first musical experience as a singer in the choir of her father's church. At 14 she entered Hampton Institute and traveled to Europe with the institute famous chorus. In New York she studied Wilfred Klamroth and John Alan Houghton, and had a brilliant New York recital in November followed by an appearance as soloist with the great Boston Symphony Orchestra, which started her first season.

Improvements on several of the business buildings in this city are noted. The National Hotel Building is being painted. Work on painting the forest service headquarters has been finished and improving of the Bank of America building exterior has started.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlando McCraney are spending several days in San Francisco. McCraney last week returned to his home here after working several years in the Phillipine Islands.

DATA ON WATER POWER AVAILABLE

Each Tahoe district ranger has just been furnished with a map showing complete information in connection with water power withdrawals on his district, according to B. C. Goldsmith, who is in charge of this work for the Tahoe forest.

Water power withdrawals, Goldsmith says, are areas that have been set aside by act of Congress or by water power application as chiefly valuable for water power purposes. Any mineral entries made before such withdrawals, which are otherwise valid, are not affected; but entries made after the land is withdrawn for power purposes, are invalid, according to Goldsmith.

Interested parties may secure information in this regard by calling at the headquarters of the district ranger within whose district the land is located.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

Flash! Common horse sense is beginning to make itself felt against emotional hysteria in some Congressional quarters!

That's news. It means that if the trend away from emotionalism and toward logic continues, the nation may yet be able to arm itself for satisfactory defense.

Legislative debate over conscription of men led to pure hysteria in which some solons talked unthinkingly of conscripting wealth and industry. Now, they are beginning to realize that conscription of industry and wealth would mean conscription of the whole nation.

The sounder thinkers are now convinced that only the unwilling industries and dollars should be confiscated. They realize that if "wealth" is conscripted it means forcing everybody to buy government bonds even if they have to borrow the money to do it. And, they say, they can get the unwilling dollars through taxation.

Thus charges that industry is "sabotaging" national defense are boomeranging against the accusers. The President, the National Defense Advisory Commission, the Secretary of War, Secretary of Navy, and so on down the line, insist that industry is doing its part. That should satisfy the most violent critics.

As a matter of fact, an increasing number of legislators is becoming convinced that the hurling of such charges against industry in itself amounts to sabotage. Because it simply creates doubt and uncertainty in industry at a time when it should be allowed to produce national defense without having to defend its unquestioned patriotism.

In this connection, some legislators have been brought suddenly up against the realization that they are now passing their tenth tax bill in the last nine years. As one of them put it, "we've been following a let's tax-this-tax-that theory until we don't know what we are taxing."

He points out that out of these ten tax bills, eight have been passed as late as June and only two earlier in the year. That means that industries which would like in December to plan their activities and program for the next full year can't do so because they won't find out until June or later what taxes they will have to pay for the year.

Incidentally, newspapermen who follow tax legislation are usually pretty sound judges of the wisdom of tax bills. In a recent press gallery discussion, a group of them suggested an amendment to the so-called "excess profits" bill. It was this: Strike out everything and insert: "Excess profits is stuff that if the government says you got any, whether you understand it or not, it will tax 'em—and heavy."

The tax bill may be big (at last count it was 105 pages) but the defense job is bigger. In a recent address, H. W. Prentis, Jr., President of the National Association of Manufacturers, emphasized this. He reminded that building a two-ocean navy is a tremendous job because it means increasing the size of the navy 100 per cent. But the army is to be increased 1,000 per cent.

In addition, he said, the original 100 per cent has to be modified to meet modern warfare requirements. He said, too, that another example of the size of the job is the fact that in the construction of a single Martin bomber, 400 to 600 sub-contractors are involved.

American industry knows that the only road to continued progress is through keeping awake and looking for new ideas. Many millions of dollars of profits are re-invested each year in this country in research activities to find new products or improve existing ones. One dramatic example on record is that of a company which spent $40,0000,00 on new factories and experiments before earning a single cent on the dyes ti eventually produced!

AMERICAN BOY IS COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

DEFENSE BRINGS MORE TAX FUNDS THAN ESTIMATED

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26—(UP)—State tax collections are showing substantial increases as a result of the stimulation of California business and industry induced by defense expenditures it is reported.

The increase possibly may be sufficient to balance the state budget for the next biennium, providing appropriations are kept on the same scale as at present.

When the present state budget was being framed two years ago it was estimated that general fund receipts for the biennium ending June 30, 1941, would be $343,000,000. The estimate was later raised to $351,000,000, and it now develops that if tax collections continue on the present trend these receipts will come close to $365,000,000.

It is stated that airplane factories in the state have taken on thousands of new employes and it seems likely they are going to be even busier. In addition, California farm income is increasing in spite of the loss of foreign markets.

The governor has renewed his plea for new taxes which he has previously proposed unsuccessfully to the legislature.

"It will be remembered," he said, "that I asked for these taxes, not only to balance the budget and preserve the state's financial integrity, but to lay the foundation for a rational revision of the tax structure whereunder we might progressively reduce and finally abolish taxes of the regressive kind tyipfied by the sales tax."

He also urged larger diversions to the support of the local government now supported by proper taxes, which he declared are required to bear far too heavy a share of all taxes in California.

SCOUTS AND CUBS OUTLINE PLANS FOR NEW SEASON

On Tuesday evening, September 17, troop No. 24 held its first meeting of the fall season. All of the boys who were in the troop before June dismissal returned for the year's registration. Twelve boys have moved away and there were six new ones on hand to become Tenderfoot Scouts in their places.

Dwight Steele, associate of Frank Finnegan will assist Cecil Klee and Merle Morrison this year, as assistant scoutmaster. The new boys include Don Ellis, Ronald Bell, Walter Feathers, Don Hoskin, Richard Davies, Ronald Shaw and Walter Davis.

During summer camp troop No. 24 had one of the highest number of boys in attendance at camp Pahatsi, as all the boys went but 4 who were at work and 3 who moved early in the summer. Fifteen of the troop members are in the Pahatsi Tribe, an honor organization for good campers and all around good scouts.

Immediate plans call for a court of honor, a joint social evening with the girl scouts, and the October preparation for Halloween party for the school children at the scout lodge.

The troop meets on Tuesday evening this year as a convenience to the boys. Due to football practice, the troop meets from 7:30 until 9 p. n. until November.

AUG. GAS SALES BREAK RECORDS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 26.—Gasoline sales throughout California continued to break records during the month of August, the State Board of Equalization reported.

On the basis of the sale of 173,546,089 gallons of gasoline, a tax of $5,206,382.67 was levied by the board, a gain of $282,299.94 or 5.73 per cent over the same month of the previous year. The total also was well above the assessment of $4,793,405.19 for July, 1940.

Board records revealed that the August total represented the second time in the history of the tax that the income for a single month passed the $5,000,000 mark. The first such record was established in June, 1940.

Autumn is here

WHEN KITCHENS are warm with the tingling fragrance of simmering catsup, blending with the heady aroma of tumeric and dill seeds . . . when it's picklin' time . . . and one special ladle of rich Chutney goes into an etched, six-sided jar—with the expectation that THIS will be the one to win the praise of the family tribe at the Thanksgiving reunion.

FOR 64 YEARS the name of "Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad Company" has become as much a part of the tradition of local celebrations and holadiys as has the friendly jostling of crowds and the flutter of gay bunting. Since the beginning of our business we've tried to do things a little better. We've fussed over the important little things; and, like a good cook, we've never been quite satisfied. We're always trying to do a bit better—adding a magic touch of flavor here and there.

WE THINK this fall weather is grand—and know you like it, too. With you we have a feeling of augmented pride in our community, a feeling and desire to take more active part in its affairs, when autumn leaves are flaming and glowing and thoughts turn to the warmth of the inglenook at night. Let this spirit be with you through "Trade Days" too. These take place this week, and it's your merchant's way of bidding you welcome to his house.

It deals with school traffic surveys and each of a dozen means of transportation employed—school busses, street cars and motor coaches, taxis and family cars, the older students' jalopies, bicycles, skates and scooters, and even horseback, horse drawn vehicles and boats as used in some parts of the state, with proportional representation of pedestrian problems.
